

IPRES, Istituto Pugliese di Ricerche Sociali
Piazza Garibaldi
Bari IT – Italy

www.ipres.it

IPRES, founded in 1968, is association among LA and public institutions of Apulia Region. Ipres is an expression of the system of local/regional authorities in Apulia, is non profit making, address goals of general interests and has got legal identity. It is a research institute working mainly at regional level in Apulia, Italy, and with national and international research institutions, experts' networks and associations. Its main mission is the scientific research and analysis of social and economic dynamics affecting the development of the communities and territories in Italy. Ipres' researches are especially engaged in the field of provision expertise and consultancy to local/regional authorities in Italy being an important element of understanding for further political planning, policy and decision making as well as improvement of the democratic governance. The study and research activities are mainly addressed to its associates who provide the necessary financial resources.