About ALDA

ALDA is a non-governmental organisation dedicated to the promotion of good governance and citizen participation at the local level. ALDA in particular focuses on activities that facilitate cooperation between local authorities and civil society. It was established in 1999 at the initiative of the Council of Europe's Congress of Local and Regional Authorities to coordinate and support a network of Local Democracy Agencies which was established in the early 1990s. ALDA is now one of the largest NGOs in the field of cooperation between local authorities and non-state actors engaged in promotion of local democracy and active citizenship. A former intern said about her experience:

"I really appreciate that I had the opportunity to do the internship with ALDA because it brings you a lot of new experiences, allows you to improve and deepen your skills, offers you a space for your creativity and ideas while working in a friendly environment where you are not just an intern, you are actually part of the team. Six-months internship is the best period to find out how the organization works, to be able to work independently and to actually benefit from the experience".
