

Women and Youth in Democracy Initiative (WYDE) Youth Participation in Public Affairs

Cluster 1: Generate Democracy: involving youth CSOs in democracy support

Regranting scheme

Call for proposals.

Context:

The Youth Participation in Public Affairs program of the EU's, Women and Youth in Democracy Initiative \(WYDE\) is funded by the European Union. It aims to improve the enfranchisement, empowerment, and inclusion of youth in all levels of democratic participation at the national, regional, and global scales. WYDE Youth's three-pronged approach is informed by the need for youth engagement and inclusion not only at national level, but beyond and above it. With half of the world's population being under 30, the continued survival of democracy is highly dependent on buy-in and support among its youth.

The project will also implement 5 different projects called “Clusters”, coordinated by the European Partnership for Democracy (EPD)'s members, and aiming at engaging young people active in public affairs, from civil society activists to politicians in an effort to empower them to advocate for more youth inclusion in society.

Cluster 1, named “Generate Democracy: involving youth CSOs in democracy support” is dedicated to providing youth CSOs with the chance to put into practice the lessons learnt in the other clusters and undertake responsibilities over concrete actions promoting civic engagement and democracy. This cluster is therefore cross – cutting and strongly interlinked with the other four. Under the leadership of the European Association of Local Democracy \(ALDA\) and in partnership with Elbarlament & People In Need this cross-cutting cluster will consist of a funding mechanism that will function on a rolling basis, reviewing applications in three subsequent rounds, across the four – year project duration.

Overall architecture of the regranting scheme

The regranting scheme will be articulated in three rounds.

The call will be launched on the 3rd of April 2023, and it will remain open for three years, until 31st July 2025.

Applications will be received on rolling basis. Evaluation committee will gather once a year, therefore resulting in the three rounds.

- 1- The first selection committee will gather in September 2023, and it will assess the project proposals received up to the 15.08.2023.
- 2- The second selection committee will take place in May 2024, and it will assess the project proposals received up to the 15.04.2024.
- 3- The third selection committee will take place in September 2025, and it will assess the project proposals received up to the 15.08.2025.

The third round, although open with the same criteria of the previous two rounds, will particularly prioritize capitalization projects, meaning those projects that aim to capitalize previous experiences, projects, or initiatives, developed in the frame of the WYDE project or other frames, provided that they are in line with the goals of WYDE and of the re-granting scheme.

Objectives

Overall objective

Through the re-granting scheme, the cluster 1 of the WYDE project is aiming at funding and implementing national and transnational projects in support of youth civic engagement and participation in the decision-making processes across the Sub-Saharan Countries.

Specific objectives

- Empower organisations working in the field of youth to play a relevant role in supporting the democratic participation of youth.
- Support peer to peer learning among youth organisations
- Reinforce an international network of youth organisations and youth leaders.
- Improve the cooperation between the youth civil society and public policy makers, at local, national, and international level.
- Advocate for the establishment or improvement of representative youth structures (such as youth councils or youth parliaments)

Crosscutting priorities

This call for proposals will finance actions that respect the five working principles of the Human Rights Based Approach methodology:

1. Applying all human rights for all
2. Meaningful and inclusive participation and access to decision-making
3. Non-discrimination and equality; accountability and rule of law for all
4. Transparency
5. Access to information supported by disaggregated data.

These principles should be rigorously applied throughout programming, design, and implementation and across all sectors.

Gender equality should be mainstreamed throughout these working principles. The working principles are equally relevant to the process. Therefore, all proposals under this call for proposals shall be designed according to a HRBA. Please note that this aspect will be highly considered during the projects assessment.

Target groups and final beneficiaries

The action considers as young people aged between 15 and 35 years old as its main beneficiaries, in line with the African Union Youth Charter¹. WYDE's principal actions will therefore cover this age category. However, it will not limit its grantees and other beneficiaries from working with a wider definition of youth, notably to include children (defined here as the age group of 9-14 years)² or to work through the Summit for Democracy's Youth Participation Cohort³ who sometimes consider active citizens up to 40 years old.

When reporting and measuring, the action will pay attention to disaggregate group of beneficiaries, not only by sex, but also by age.

Considering that youth participation has different dimensions, the Action distinguishes between five target groups depending on their level of engagement in public affairs to better ascertain their needs and fine-tune its support:

- Young citizens
- Youth-led organizations and Movements
- Young aspiring/Inspiring Leaders
- Young decision makers
